

Ms. Songer's Fourth Grade

Welcome To Our Classroom

News for the week of:
February 1, 2010

Creative
Corner

Academics

Language Arts: Finished up our whole class read aloud-There's An Owl in The Shower. Designed T-Shirt logo's which are displayed in the classroom. Our logo's promote earth care and protecting wildlife in our environment.

Math: Family newsletter for Unit 6 went home last week. We've been working really hard on understanding the steps involved with Partial Quotients!! A method of division that is introduced to fourth graders but not expected to be mastered at this time. We'll keep practicing :)

Science: Students have finished science projects for our animal adaptation unit. Lots of creativity involved with designing, creating and sharing a creature which can survive in the Black Lagoon. Animals are on display on the landing near our classroom entrance. Pictures to share in the near future!!

Other: Welcome to our first edition of our on-line newsletter. This has always been a dream of Ms. Songer's. If you have any questions or comments about our letters please feel free to provide feedback. A true work in progress!!

Contact Info.: Ms. Songer

jsonger@ccsuvt.org
878-1381

Points of Interest

- Olympic character project due Feb. 17. All students have the directions. May need some help finding craft scraps.
- February 17, Peter Pan performances at Essex Junction High School- First show-1:15 Second show-6:30.
- Winter Break- 2/22/10-3/2/10

Winter Poetry

White snow
Ice skating
Nice ice
Trees covered with snow
Excellent sledding
Really cold outside

-Stephen

Winter is my favorite season
Hate it cause you get freezing
But I like it anyway

Now grandma's cookies
Are the way I really like them when their fresh
They are my favorite cookies
They're the best

Then when sledding is too much fun
Don't care if I'm big or little Just matters if you're having fun.

-Brody